

Native Plant Society of New Jersey's
Annual Meeting
"Pine Barrens Landscapes, Frozen Ground, and the Jersey Devil"
&
"The Great Debate: Native Plant Species vs.
Cultivars in the Landscape"

*Hosted by
The Lewis W Barton Arboretum & Nature Preserve at Medford Leas
One Medford Leas Way Medford, New Jersey 08055*

Saturday March 12 10:00 - 3:30

$20 per person

(Includes all presentations and hike, light morning refreshments and full lunch.)

To register: <http://www.brownpapertickets.com/event/153167>

Mark Demitroff, member of the University of Delaware Permafrost Group and PhD student at the Geography Department, will present "Pine Barrens Landscapes, Frozen Ground, and the Jersey Devil", an exciting story of the region's natural history, enriched by adding botanical context to recent geological studies.

Join us as Restoration Specialist Bill Young of Young Environmental, LLC and Propagation Guru Jason Austin of Rare Find Nursery debate the value and importance of Native Species and Cultivars in the landscape. Come prepared with questions, this will be a real debate with your questions being addressed by the speakers.

A Native Plant Sale and Hike will follow the meeting.

The Native Plant Society of New Jersey's mission is to promote the appreciation, preservation and study of New Jersey's Native Flora.