Registration Deadline is July 5!

PROGRAM: An intensive environmental education and stewardship institute for the Pemberton School District middle and high school teachers based on local conservation lands in the Pine Barrens of Pemberton Township. The Pemberton Summer Teacher Institute will train local teachers in the ecology and history of human uses of their local natural areas and how they can use these protected lands as an outdoor classroom. The Institute will also introduce students to these preserves and give them the knowledge they need to explore the ecosystem intelligently and responsibly. And, finally, the Institute will bring the broader public onto the land through volunteer stewardship projects.

Professional development credits: Teacher attendees receive 35 hours of professional development hours. (NJDOE registration #3327)
